Through the Years

In a world turned upside down due to COVID-19, one of the most affected areas of life is that of education. Our students and teachers have had to adapt to continue learning. Congratulations goes out to the many Mentor United Methodist scholarship winners. Our church has a distinguished record in offering financial aid for education. I will be sharing more about our scholarship donors in future columns.

The United Methodist Church itself has a very long and proud history of establishing institutions of higher education. By the year 1820, the Methodist movement had grown strong in numbers and financial stability. The one thing the church was lacking was any colleges or universities. Methodist students had to go to institutions run by other denominations. That changed with the General Conference of 1820. The church began to establish colleges and academies. The oldest surviving college is Wesley University in Middletown, Connecticut. It was founded in 1831. From 1830 to 1861, a total of fifty-three colleges were established in the United States with the Methodist Church founding thirty-two of them! It is an impressive record. While many of these schools have little or no direct United Methodist connection today, it is still a legacy of which the church should be proud.

One Institution that continues its religious connections is the Chautauqua Institute in New York State. The Institute was founded by two men, Lewis Miller and Reverend John Heyl Vincent. Miller was a philanthropist based in Akron, Ohio. He made his fortune by inventing the first combine (harvester-reaper machine) with the blade mounted efficiently in the front of the driver, to the side of the horse, rather than pulled behind. Miller donated much of his wealth to Methodist causes. He also invented the Akron Plan layout for churches and Sunday schools in conjunction with Rev. Vincent and architect Jacob Snyder. His daughter, Mina, married Thomas Edison.

Rev. Vincent, who later was made a Bishop, set up the Chautauqua Institute as a training ground for Sunday school teachers. Teachers would arrive by steamboat on Chautauqua Lake. The park was used to teach the geography of the Holy Land. The Institute developed its programs for religion, arts, music and education. It was later called the Chautauqua movement and was adopted elsewhere. The Institute is on the National Register of Historic Places and is designated a National Historic Landmark. This great center for culture had its beginnings thanks to a Methodist pastor and a Methodist philanthropist.

Stay safe and continue to follow Christ, our strength and our Redeemer!

Summer is humming along. It is crazy how quickly it has gone! Theatre Arts Camp was able to happen and looked very differently but came together very nicely. There was a total of thirty-two children, youth, and adults that came together to produce three one acts that culminated in A Night of One Acts on Friday, July 24. Thank you to all who supported our endeavors!

As the summer has progressed I have continued offering Sunday morning meet ups at 10:30 am for the children. Kate & Abby Colbow have done an amazing job creating video lessons for the preschool children. These are impressive and are greatly appreciated! I've also been available for Wednesday mornings at 10:30 am as well but have not had much luck. I guess the days are too nice to be on a screen. ;)

I know that I had mentioned that the East Ohio Camps had suspended their programs for the summer, but I have recently learned that they ARE offering Family Camps! That is pretty exciting for those of you looking for something do this summer. Here are the camp links:

Camp Aldersgate

Camp Asbury

Camp Wanake

I am looking ahead to August when we celebrate our incoming third graders as they receive their Bibles. Please know that the Children's Ministry Team is working to still make this happen although it will look different than in years past. If you have a child entering THIRD GRADE this fall, you should have received an email from Tammy regarding the plan. If you did not receive this email, please contact her ASAP at tpalermo@mentorumc.org.

It is not too late to sign up your family or your children individually for the EAT THIS BOOK Challenge! It is a way to plunge into the New Testament. You can join at any time but need to have your sessions completed by September 5th.

I know the months of June and July looked different than in years past. We are still making our way through this pandemic. God knows our needs and our hearts. We just need to remember to lean into His love and care for us. I pray that you are staying safe and healthy and making the best decisions for your family during these days.

By HIS Grace and through HIS love,

Second Quarter Financial Update

The second quarter of 2020 is over and we continue to celebrate your financial support of our ministry. Although COVID-19 has altered our ministry it has not halted our ministry.

Because of your generosity we continue to fulfill our financial commitments. We are current on our Erie Bank mortgage payments; are current with our conference and district apportionments; continue to support our full-time staff; and continue to actively engage in ministries in our church and community.

Because of your generosity we have purchased or ordered items that will assist our ministry moving forward, such as cameras and technology for live-streaming, and essential cleaning equipment.

Most importantly, because of your generosity we continue to impact lives through our worship, ministry with children, food ministry, care of those with specific needs, and mission outreach. As you mail your weekly contribution, give on-line or drop off your offering please be assured, and thankful, that you are making a difference for Christ.

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Youth Ministries

This summer has been filled with surprises, excitement, and change. It has been an honor to be a part of the long-standing traditions of this congregation and youth ministry by leading Youth Service Project, Middle School Mission Week, and completing our Confirmation Class.

This year in our Confirmation Class we had seventeen students. When the pandemic began, our class still had three more sessions which were able to complete via Google Meet, which was both challenging and entertaining. There were many discussions of favorite breakfast foods, pets that liked to crash the calls, and students (and teachers) who felt more sleepy than when we met in person. We had to postpone our retreat to Camp Asbury, but we hope to be able to have a picnic at a park sometime in the future. The students completed their interviews with Pastor Sondra and Pastor Quincy, who enjoyed talking to them about what faith means to them. And finally, on June 28, we were able to have our Confirmation Sunday with the students' close family members in the Sanctuary and baptize three students. With love, congregation members met them at the portico entrance to honk their car horns in celebration.

For the Youth Service Project, our plans changed but God provided us with a local mission for a family in Thompson, Ohio. Throughout the week of June 21-27, the YSP Team helped rebuild the Collen Family's home. There were 8 students and 12 adults from MUMC, though there were others that came and helped a few days during the week. The Team replaced and reframed windows, doors, put in a new stairway, added supports to the floor, and framed the interior of the house. We also put up siding, painted, leveled the floor in the barn, and helped out with barn chores.

Each day was met with morning music, and our evenings ended with devotions at Thompson UMC. The students gained new skills, befriended horses, and grew closer as a team through fun riddles and card games. It was a joy to learn more about God's Kingdom throughout the week as we focused on our scriptures. Matthew 5:3-12 allowed us to see a clear picture of God's Kingdom, and that it is a place where we are comforted, filled, loved, and called the Sons and Daughters of God.

For our Middle School Mission Week, our 22 students endured a very hot week of service projects on July 6-10. We were able to do yard work around the church, clean out the shed, and paint the planters by the road. We also got to take a trip to the YSP site and meet the Collen Family. We worked in the pasture clipping bushes along the fenceline, and scrubbed down the saddles and bridles in the tack room. Later in the week, we cut the fabric that made 164 masks, made cards for our shut-ins (learning to address envelopes in our clearest handwriting), and helped cook and deliver meals to the shut-ins. On Friday, we held a car wash that raised over $500 for our various meal ministries at MUMC and ended our week soaking wet with a water balloon fight. It was great still being able to serve our communities and focus on the same verses that our YSP Team learned from.

This entire Summer, and year for that matter, I have heard people say again and again how different things are. A verse that we focused on during YSP and MSMW showed us that we should continue to do God's work, even when it feels different. Ecclesiastes 11:4 says, "If you wait until the wind and the weather are just right, you will never plant anything and never harvest anything."

I want to end this letter with encouragement and love for all of the Youth and their families. You will get through this, and I hope this time allows you to grow in your relationship with God. We will get a chance to celebrate our incoming seventh graders, have a new Confirmation group, and have Youth Group, though the circumstances may be different. We are still able to plant seeds, even though there are restrictions, and we will be able to have a bountiful harvest when this is over. Please continue to keep an eye out for information as we find ways to continue to reach out to one another and plan safe activities. I miss you all very much!

From Pastor Quincy

Chelsea and I want to thank everyone for your warm welcome of Augustine Harley Wheeler as he arrived at our home. So many of you extended warm congratulations, cards, meals, and gifts - we are so blessed. So far, Augustine is a very good baby, and Elliot, our oldest, likes him a lot, usually alternating between kissing him and giving him "encouraging pats."

We are excited about doing some new, creative things in online worship to keep the service fresh, especially trying to engage our families who are watching with kids at home. We also are working on offering Zoom/Google small groups for the fall, and offering chances to continue conversations on the need for multiethnic conversations on racial justice issues.

In these trying times, I encourage you to remember and treasure the connection you have with this amazing church. Even though we can't be together right now as we used to be, we can still reach out to let our family in Christ know how much we love them.

Thank You

I would like to thank Larry Hoon, of the Joseph Ministry, for all his hard work teaching and letting me help remove and install a new ramp on my home thru this hot weather. It is a great improvement! Thank you again Larry Hoon.

God Bless,
Kathy Joczcyk
